THE FIVE-YEARLY REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE ASSOCIATE ALUMNÆ OF BARNARD COLLEGE

February, 1915.

The five years that have elapsed since the publication of the last Quinquennial Report and Register of the Associate Alumnæ of Barnard College, completing the first quarter century in the life of the college, have witnessed a fourfold growth of power in the association.

In the first place, it has been internally strengthened through the simplification of its machinery by changes in the By-Laws enacted from time to time. By abolishing the system of carrying all graduates as members for three years and through the activity of the Membership Committee and individual effort it has increased its paying membership from 390 in the fiscal year ending in October, 1911, to 682 in the year ending in October, 1914, and at the present time it numbers 727 active members, 46 life members, and 8 associate members, making a total membership of 781. It has, moreover, by a painstaking system of budget-making on the part of its Finance Committee, based on the estimated expenses of each committee for the year, established itself on a firm financial basis, bringing its actual expenses within ten dollars of its estimated expenses and at the same time maintaining an ample reserve. The careful revision of the card-index made by the Registrar and the thorough system of keeping it up to date inaugurated by the present Membership and Statistics Committee have facilitated and improved the handling of alumnæ business.

The alumnæ have been kept in closer touch with one another by means of the Bulletin of the Associate Alumnæ of Barnard College, published first in May, 1912, and semiannually since 1913. The publication of such a bulletin was suggested to the Board of Directors in November, 1911, by the Class of 1904. The enlarged Publicity Committee, Charlotte E. Morgan, '04, chairman, with the help of a special Finance Committee and the generous coöperation of other committees, succeeded in overcoming the financial difficulties of the first issue. Since then an appropriation for the Bulletin has been made from the association treasury. The cost has, however, mounted from $54 for the first number to $75 for the last, in December, 1914, and has thereby enforced limiting the distribution of the Bulletin to members of the Associate Alumnæ, a policy long advocated by many faithful members of the association who believe that its privileges should not be extended to those alumnæ not contributing to its support.

Growing social activities too have strengthened alumnæ ties. By giving the annual luncheon a more public character and inviting prominent speakers, the Reunion Committee has succeeded in attracting a large body of members, as well as in recruiting new members and bringing about a considerable number of reinstatements by its policy of making attendance conditional on payment of back dues. This committee has also made the costume parade an attractive feature of the Commencement Reunion. Field Day and the informal Monday afternoon teas at the college, inaugurated in January, 1914, have afforded the alumnæ more frequent opportunities for social intercourse. The most valuable contribution, however, to the social life of the alumnæ has probably been the establishment of intercollegiate athletics. The plan for this undertaking was suggested to the Board of Directors in January, 1913, by Miss Lillian Schoedler, '11, who was made chairman of a Committee on Athletics. This committee initiated its work in Thompson Gymnasium with a group of about twenty girls in March, 1913, and by October of that year it had so fully proved its value that it was constituted a permanent committee of the Associate Alumnæ. Under the auspices of this energetic committee, for a small fee, about 325 graduates of about 40 colleges now meet one evening a week at Thompson Gymnasium for basket-ball, hand-ball, hockey, swimming, and dancing, and one evening a week at the Central Park Riding Academy for horseback riding; during the summer months outdoor sports and activities are provided.

In the second place, the relationship of the Associate Alumnæ with the undergraduates indicates an ever-growing spirit of friendship and hearty coöperation. The Committee on Student Activities has, it is true, been abolished, but only because many of its functions had been absorbed by other committees and simpler machinery was deemed more effective. The Employment Committee has coöperated earnestly with the Secretary of the College in securing employment for undergraduates, as well as for alumnæ, by means of circulars sent annually to schools, publishing houses, laboratories, etc., in New York and vicinity. It has, furthermore, striven to widen the vocational outlook of the undergraduates by publishing in their Bulletin a series of articles on opportunities for women in business and the professions written by experts in the several fields and by arranging for talks at the college by representatives of the Intercollegiate Bureau of Occupations.

On the more material side, the Students' Aid Committee has, between January, 1910, and January, 1915, helped 37 students to continue in college by loans varying from $22.50 to $325 and aggregating $4828.29, making the average annual loans total about $965 instead of $700 as estimated in the last quinquennial report. It has been enabled thus to enlarge its work through generous contributions from the Students' Exchange and from the various graduating classes. The classes of 1913 and 1914, however, have not been appealed to for help because of the demands made upon them by the Building Fund.

Opportunities for closer social relations have been afforded by the alumnæ teas, to which the undergraduates have been invited individually or by classes, and by the animated participation of the graduating class in the costume parade. Plans for a more intimate group intercourse, to take the place in a measure of the alumnæ-undergraduate social relationship formerly fostered by the fraternities, are now being considered by a joint committee of the alumnæ and undergraduate associations. And it is hoped that the newly established Alumnæ Council will prove one more tie between these bodies and one more opportunity for the alumnæ to serve the students.

The third and one of the most vital relations of the Associate Alumnæ is that with the university and college authorities. How cordial this is, is proved by the invitation of the University Chaplain to Barnard alumnae to attend the Alumni Day Exercises held annually in St. Paul's Chapel, by the opening of Brooks Hall to alumnae on the same terms as to undergraduates not in residence, and by the hospitality of the Mistress of Brooks Hall to the alumnae on all occasions. The courtesy of the President of the University and of the Dean in sending their annual reports to alumnae is helpful in keeping them informed of university and college activities. And the generosity of the college in subscribing one hundred dollars has materially aided the Associate Alumnae in publishing this Register.

The Resident Scholarship Committee which had been coöperating with the college authorities was disbanded in October, 1912, owing to the Pulitzer gift which provided for the establishment of several such scholarships. But the Directors still hope to keep the Dormitory Surplus Fund, formerly at the disposal of this committee, intact for the benefit of the college in some special way yet to be designated by the association. The present widespread interest of the alumnae in the Building Fund early showed itself in the one hundred dollar gift of an anonymous alumna inspired by the Dean's address at the annual luncheon in 1912. The Alumnae Quarter Century Fund Committee has coöperated actively with the authorities in their efforts to raise two million dollars to enlarge and endow Barnard College in accordance with its pressing needs. The class subcommittees, through their own members alone or with the help of outside friends, have made the substantial contribution of $20,842, ranging per class from $185 to $5182. The local subcommittees and one fraternity have together contributed $1006. And the united efforts of the alumnae under the Opera Benefit Committee, Miss Mabel Parsons, '95, chairman, culminated in a performance of Madama Butterfly at the Metropolitan Opera House on January 3, 1914, at which Mayor Mitchel spoke in behalf of Barnard College, netting $6223. Another alumnae committee, invited by the Dean, is now acting with a committee of Trustees and Faculty in arranging for the Quarter Century Celebration to be held on April 29, 1915.

The college authorities gave further proof of their confidence in the alumnae by inviting the President of the Associate Alumnae, her immediate predecessor, and two other members of the association to take part in the fraternity investigation conducted in 1912-1913 which resulted in the practical suspension for the time being of fraternities in Barnard College.

The most marked token, however, of the friendly attitude of the Trustees and Faculty toward alumnae coöperation has been in their welcome to the Alumnae Council, the establishment of which was suggested to the Board of Directors in January, 1914, by Miss Elizabeth Allen, '02. Miss Allen was appointed chairman of a committee to consider and, if deemed advisable, arrange for the establishment of such a council. The recommendations drawn up by this committee, with the help of valuable data furnished by the Committee to Collect Information Concerning Alumnae Associations, Miss Clara de L. Berg, '98, chairman, and with the encouragement of the Dean and the Provost, were approved at the annual meeting of the association in October, 1914. And the Alumnae Council, whose purpose it is to "find, consider, and express the desires and suggestions of alumnae with regard to the academic and social life of the college and whose duty it is to know and study conditions at the college and, in conference with the Faculty and Trustees, to make suggestions as to its academic and social life," held its organization meeting on February 13, 1915.

It is, perhaps, in the fourth relationship that the Associate Alumnae of Barnard College has in the past five years made greatest progress; that is, in its affiliation with other college graduates. The intercollegiate athletic evenings have afforded Barnard alumnae desirable opportunities to widen their horizon by close touch with graduates of other colleges. In three fields, moreover, the Associate Alumnae of Barnard College is coöperating actively with other alumnae.

In coöperation with the New York alumnae of Bryn Mawr, Cornell, Mount Holyoke, Radcliffe, Smith, Vassar, Wellesley, and Wells it maintains the Intercollegiate Bureau of Occupations, which opened its office on October 1, 1911, "for the study of the economic problems of educated women and the effective use of the information secured; and for the bringing together of employers and educated women (other than teachers) seeking employment." The four Barnard directors of the Bureau have ably represented this association and shared in the management of the Bureau, while the special Finance Committee, authorized at the same time, has provided ways and means. But the financial support of this undertaking, demanding $1000 in 1911 to 1912 and in the succeeding years $500 and $732 respectively, has been no small burden. It has been met by voluntary contributions or by class assessments, with help from outside friends. The association also assumed its share of the performance of Patience given on May 8, 1912, by the nine coöperating colleges for the benefit of the Bureau. The valuable research work undertaken by the Bureau and its quickly expanding activities have convinced the association, however, that participation in this domain of intercollegiate work is eminently worth while.

The Board of Directors in November, 1913, as authorized by the association at its annual meeting, appointed a committee, Mrs. George V. Mullan, '98, chairman, to effect affiliation with the Association of Collegiate Alumnæ. Such affiliation, already enjoyed by the alumnæ associations of Bryn Mawr, Radcliffe, Smith, and Wellesley, entails a tax of ten cents for each member of the association, which was met last year by class assessment and this year by appropriation from the general treasury, and entitles the affiliated organization to one councilor serving for two years and to one delegate for every one hundred members at each biennial convention. This representation enables the Associate Alumnæ of Barnard College to serve on committees and to take part in councils dealing with the privileges and responsibilities of college women throughout the land. The presence of the delegation of this association at the interesting biennial convention held in Philadelphia, April 13 to April 18, 1914, marked its entrance into this second field of intercollegiate coöperation.

In the third place, a committee instructed by the Board of Directors in May, 1914, to confer with the Intercollegiate Bureau of Occupations about the establishment of a social service exchange for volunteers learned that the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association and the New York Branch of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae were even then considering the establishment of such a bureau. In accordance with the plans of a committee representing the three interested organizations and several social agencies, the Department for Volunteers, under the auspices of the Intercollegiate Bureau of Occupations and under the management of a volunteer staff, opened on December 1, 1914, for the purpose of so advising and placing volunteers in political, social, educational, philanthropic, and religious fields that they may secure careful and intelligent guidance and render conscientious and effective service.

These varying activities have made heavy demands upon the resources of the association and upon the energies of its faithful committees. The alumnae in general have met these demands cheerfully and conscientiously, but occasionally an alumna is heard to ask why she should join the association and what she will get in return for her dollar. To such the answer is that membership in the association carries with it the privilege of attending its social functions, of taking part in its councils and activities, and of receiving its publications, which, according to the researches of the Committee to Collect Information Concerning Alumnae Associations, is all that is offered by any such association. The question worthier of a graduate of Barnard College is what she, through membership in the association, can give to her fellow alumnae, to her sister undergraduates, to her college, and to the community, to serve whose highest interests with steadfast purpose and unflagging zeal should be the proud aim of every daughter of Barnard.

Alice K. Pollitzer, '93, President.

REGISTER OF ALUMNÆ—CLASSES OF 1893-1914

NOTE.—Names are given in the form used while in College, with later forms in brackets. After the names are given items of marriage and children; additional degrees and post-graduate study; paid occupations; volunteer positions, offices held, etc. In general, place and institution have been specified only for present positions. The Barnard degree received is that of A.B., except in cases in which the B.S. degree is specifically named in parentheses.

Items for the publication of which space was not available have been kept on file at the College for reference. The committee has had some difficulty in deciding what to state under "occupations," and wishes to apologize for any mistakes and misinterpretations.
